About this Title

Now with new functionalities and improved interface!

The database "National Socialism, Holocaust, Resistance and Exile 1933-1945" opens the series "20th Century German History Online". For this database fundamental primary sources on the National Socialist state and the NSDAP, Nazi ideology and propaganda, National Socialist justice and legislation, on resistance and persecution, and annihilation and expulsion in the "Third Reich" have been compiled and digitised.

The approximately 40,000 primary sources with about 450,000 pages include:

- administration files and correspondence from the highest authorities of the "Third Reich", especially from the party chancellery of the NSDAP,
- situation and status reports of the secret state police authorities (Geheime Staatspolizei, SD-Sicherheitsdienst of the SS and Reichssicherheitshauptamt) from the Reich and the annexed and occupied territories,
- Adolf Hitler's speeches, writings and orders from 1925 to 1945,
- the diaries of Joseph Goebbels from 1923 to 1945,
- indictments and judgements of the Nazi People's Court (Volksgeschichtshof) and the Higher Regional Courts of Vienna and Graz, in which thousands of cases of high treason against opponents of the regime were heard, some of them sensational,
- programmatic writings, speeches, political testaments, camouflaged writings and leaflets by opponents of the regime and emigrants,
- expatriation and deportation lists,
- the previously unpublished card index on the Nuremberg war crimes trials, which indexes some 30,000 documents of evidence from the prosecution.

Beyond the primary source editions, the database offers the user:

- 18,000 biographical articles on perpetrators and victims of the "Third Reich"
- Overviews of the structure and organization of the National Socialist authorities
- Commonly used abbreviations of the period
- Inventories of archival file holdings and estates
- Scholarly introductions to the sources and essays on key themes

The database

Basis of the database are primary source editions published by K. G. Saur Verlag on microfiche or in print, licensed source works from other publishers and previously unpublished material. Many of the publications were originally compiled and edited in cooperation with distinguished institutions such as the Institute of Contemporary History (Institut für Zeitgeschichte München-Berlin), the German Federal Archives (Bundesarchiv) or the German Exile Archive (Deutsches Exilarchiv 1933-1945). The different primary sources in the database can now be searched in full-text using a variety of search possibilities.

Besides it is also possible to search within individual documents such as "Stimmungs- und Lageberichte" (situation and status reports), "Ausbürgerungs- und Deportationslisten" (expatriation and deportation lists), "Justizakten" (judicial records) or "Reden und Aufzeichnungen" (speeches and memoranda), as well as within selected publications or specific periods of time.

The sources are integrated into a background of useful supplementary information such as introductions to the respective source holdings, indexes of abbreviations, statistics and literature for further reading. Links to this additional information are available at the end of each digitised source. The biographical material can be accessed independently, and contains a wealth of information about the people named in the sources. Finally, relevant contemporary reference works in digitised form are at the users disposal, covering the offices, organisation and administration of the National Socialist state. An additional aid is provided by inventories of archival holdings, in which the estates of emigrants, resistance organisations as well as files of National Socialist authorities are described.

The variety and relevance of the content of the digitalised sources, the unique extent to which the documents are indexed, and the huge amount of biographical material make the database a unique research instrument and one which points modern source research in new directions.
